

INTELLIGENT
PROJECT MANAGEMENT
AND DISSEMINATION OF RESEARCH

Take the direct route.
Go with us.

We support you so that you can fulfil your dissemination requirements with a blink of an eye: Efficient management and marketing solutions that are customised to your research project increase the visibility of your research beyond publications in scientific journals. This saves you time and money, and you can fully focus on your research.

Clear your head to focus on research.
We do the rest.

Information and communication is mandatory.

EU Grant Agreements specify that consortia are obliged to engage with the public and media about their research and disseminate research findings widely. In addition, all dissemination activities need to follow the detailed rules on communication laid down by the EU.

Showcase your research professionally.

We help you to showcase your research in a professional way to the public. We create a distinct look for your project, so you and your colleagues can benefit from a branding effect and increase the visibility of your project. That way, you leave a lasting impression with the public and the scientific community.

Communicate research successfully. We take care of it.

Make best use of your budget.

Funding for research is tight, often even tighter for dissemination activities. We offer a range of services at a competitive price. This saves you from contracting individual service providers at great costs. In addition, due to our competitive and fixed prices you are financially on the safe side and you can claim the costs for our services as project costs.

It can't get any easier than this.

Our team brings well-experienced experts together: EU-project managers, science communicators, media designers and programmers. You do not need to spell out what you need; we know the requirements. We offer all these services as one package, which saves you a time-consuming search for good service providers.
